NEW YORK, 5; CLEVELAND, O. Though outbatted and outfleided as far as figures go, the New Yorks won their game from the Clevelands yesterday fairly and squarely. the Clevelands yesterday fairly and squarely. In spite of the fact that Tebeau's men made eleven clean singles off Meekin's curves, they were unable to score. The principal reasons for their shut-out were the remarkable pitching of the big Indiana twirler when men were on bases and beautiful fielding by his partners. In striking contrast to their work on Wednesday, Joyce's players put up a splendid game. They did not hit Young very freely, but they managed to get their safe drives in when they were needed, and that meant enough runs to make the cranks happy.

their safe drives in when they were needed, and that meant enough runs to make the cranks happy.

"Ducky" Holmes accomplished a feat that was easily the star play. The bases were filled in the seventh inning and two hands were out. Patsy Tebeau came to the rubber with his jaws looked on a huge piece of chewing gum and his eyes glaring deliance at the bulky Meekin. In a moment he threw his beef into a terrific drive that went high and directly toward the 20-cent seats. Holmes was not playing deep, so that the moment the ball left the bat he turned his back and hustled out to the fence. If the sun had been! shining it is doubtful whether Holmes could have gauged the hit, which looked good for three bags, but as the dark clouds made an excellent background for the white sphere he was coabled to haulit down just as he dashed against the boards. The catch saved three runs and possibly averted further trouble. It was uproariously received. Bill Joyce also made a couple of lightning stops and throws, which put to shame the unsportsmanlike rooters who have been abusing him of late. Davis, too, fielded in beautiful style, and Warner caught superbly.

The visitors played another mappy game, but too, fielded in beautiful style, and Warner caught superbly.

The visitors played another snappy game, but their inability to bunch hits made them look blue. Sockalexis got the usual reception, and appeared to enjoy the constant warwhoops. Burkett made four pretty base hits in five times at the bat. As a sample of the way Meekin pitched, the visitors first inning showed his style. After Burkett and childs had hit asfely, hieekin set the crowd wild with delight by striking out Sockalexis, Wallace, and Tebeau in rapid succession.

ing out Sockalexis, Wallace, and Tebeau in rapid succession.

New York's run in the first inning was due to Van Haltren's three-bagger and Tlernan's out. Capt. Joyce followed with a terrific drive for three bases, which on a dry outfield would have been an easy home run. He was left on third, however. In the fifth three runs were made on Clark's two-bagger, singles by Holmes and Van Haltren, errors by Wallace and O'Connor, an out, and a wild pitch. Davis's single, coupled with a wild throw by Childs and a base hit by Warner, yielded the last run in the sixth. O'Day's umpiring was excellent. The score:

CINCINNATI, 9; BROOKLYN, 1.

Buck Ewing, as he watched his players scamper across the plate in the sixth, sevenin and eighth innings of yesterday's game at Eastern Park, no doubt wondered how the Cincinnatis ever came to lose three straight games on their home grounds to the Brooklyns. But baseball is an uncertain game and no one is more aware of that fact than Manager Barnie. At the time the Brooklyns trounced the Cincinnatis the former team was in good shape, whereas now every one of the infielders is fit to be on the hospital list. While the home team ware easy in the hands of Rhines, Ewing's men had a picnic with Daub. The score: CINCINNATI, 9: BROOKLYN, 1.

ties Frances Archbold Wins in the Three-Day Competition at Ardaley. Some interesting play marked the final contests yesterday in the women's three-day golf ompetition at the Ardaley Club. After the morning rounds all the leaders were members of the Archbold family, Miss Frances Archbold being first, Mrs. Van Buren, her sister, second, and Miss Anna Archbold third. Mrs. Eldridge and Miss Brooks played in the afternoon. Mrs. Eldridge had to make 55 to win, but Miss Brooks, the club's champion, was known to have no chance, as she would have had to make 31 to supplant Miss Frances Archbold. This would have been lower than the men's bogie and was out of the question. The norning was overcast and there was a slight morning was overcast and there was a slight rainfall in the atternoon, but the weather conditions were generally favorable to low scoring. The rain was falling when Mrs. Eldridge tarted out, but this did not affect her play on the first four holes, which included the two ravine hazards, and they coat her in all only twenty-seven strokes. At this stage she received an excellent chance to make the low score needed to give the lead to her, but the two following holes took nineteen and put her out of the race. This was to be regretted, for the remaining holes were made in low figures. The fifth and sixth holes were unfortunate ones for Mrs. Eldridge throughout the match. She has the best single round, 63, and the best gross score, 200, to her credit, although she lost the cur.

score, 200, to her credit, although she lost the cup.

Miss Frances Archbold played steadily and did not require double figures at a single hole. Miss Anna Archbold found the depths of the chasm in driving for the second hole, and was unsteady thereafter. Miss Brooks had poor luck in approaching the home hole, but otherwise golfed in fair style. Mrs. Van Buren also met with misfortune on the home hole. The fourth hole in four materially helped Miss Low's score. The summary follows:

The officers of the New York Consulate of the L. A. W. are anxious to have the upper section of Broadway laid with asphalt to make a new approach to Central Park. It is intended to circulate a petition asking Commissioner Collis to asphalt Broadway from Long Acre square to the circle at Fifty-ninth street. This suggestion is indorsed by wheelmen who intend to make a strong effort to secure the consent of the city to make this improvement. Commissioner Collis saidyesterday that no promises could be made on such a plan. He thinks that the wheelmen have received many privileges, and that the in-terests of drivers would have to be considered to make such a change. Bicycle riders are en-thusiastic over the idea. They feel that asphalt on Broadway will open a much needed route to

The annual meet of the Canadian Wheelmen' Association will be held at Chatham on July 1, 2, and 3. The Race Committee hopes, by offering a $1,000 purse in the one-mile handicap, to bring together some very fast riders. In both the amateur and professional events the prizes will be of a very high class. Great interest is manifested in racing in Canada, and hopes are entertained that some new men and new records will be developed at the championship meeting. The fact that the L. A. W. has ruled that no United States riders can compete in the $1,000 race is a big disappointment.

The experiment of outdoor night racing was tried in this city last fall with indifferent success, and attempts have again been made to popularize this line of racing. The races held at the Olympia Park this year have been well at the Olympia Park this year have been well conducted, but the lighting is poor and riders feel reluctant to compete. The chances of accidents in night racing are many, and unless tracks are well lighted and safely banked riders show wisdom in refusing to take any risks. In Boston, on the Charles River Park track, night races have been conducted successfully this year. The amateur and professional racing men in this section declare that races at night can be made a big success in this city if safe facilities are furnished.

Boston, June 17.—In the presence of 15,000 people Jimmie Michael won the race of his life this afternoon when he beat out Eddie McDuffle in the fifteen-mile match at Charles River Park by 100 yards. The race was run off in 29 minutes 12 seconds, Michael beating his own record of 31 minutes 34 2-5 seconda, made at Manhattan Beach Sept. 18 of last year by 2 minutes 22 seconds, and creating a new American record. The men were paced by a small army of crack men. Michael got away in fine shape, catching on behind his "quad" in good style, but a sextuplet steered by Nat Butler fairly flew by him, carrying McDuffle a long distance to the fore. The first lap McDuffle gained almost an eighth of a mile on Michael. His pick-ups were made in faultless style, not a fraction of a second being lost. The first mile was covered by McDuffle in 1:54 1-5. Michael was riding easily, without seeming to exert his full strength, and found no difficulty in keeping up with the pace set. Mile after mile was receied off, with McDuffle still in the lead and riding strong. From the tenth mile to the thirteenth Michael kept closing up the gap in good shape, and as they crossed the tape on the thirteenth mile he sprinted in fine shape, his triplet leiting out and carrying him by McDuffle.

From this on to the finish Michael continued in the lead and was never in danger, although McDuffle's pacetankers made a game effort to From this on to the finish Michael continued in the lead and was never in danger, although McDuffie's pacemakers made a game effort to bring him up. As Michael came round for the last mile the bowler triplet of Chicago picked him up in grand shape and carried him around the track as though for a mile paced exhibition, doing the distance in 1:98, and crossing the tape fully 100 yards ahead of McDuffie.

From the two miles up every existing record was broken, although under L. A. W. racing rules they cannot be entered as such. The miles were done in:

CORTLAND, June 17.—Eddie Bald and Fred Titus captured the honors to-day at the circuit meet of the Cortland A. A. in the professional races. Tom Cooper was beaten by three men in the one-mile race, open, and Titus won the two-mile handicap from a list of twenty-one riders, with Church on scratch. The track was poor six feet from the pole, being soft and grass covered. It was on this part that Baid shot around to victory, passing Cooper after that rider had gained three lengths by a jump out of the bunch after Randall and Ray MacDonald. Cooper was really shut out in his heat by Eaton and Randall, the latter breaking off a pedal right at the tape. Referce Batchelder allowed Cooper to start in the final heat on this account. Eaton, MacDonald, Bald, Randall, Newhouse, Birdsall, and Cooper rode in this order for the mile. The single pacemaker was caught by Newhouse, with Eaton on his rear wheel. MacDonald was third, but gave way early to Bald, who moved up. Cooper was then on MacDonald say wheel. At the quarter Cooper came up to the side of Bald and Randall started around from the back picking up Ray MacDonald as he passed. Cooper jumped for the rear of MacDonald and worked around to the lead coming into the stretch. Bald was then two or three lengths back and coming strong. Rounding into the stretch, Bald shot wide into the soft stuff; Newhouse was after him airong. The two Buffalo men were only a half length apart at the tape, and Eaton had come up on Cooper to such good advantage that he won third by a foot, an open length back of Newhouse. Summary:

Bosros, Mass., June 17.-Tincler, the Irish imports

tion, defeated Pat Carroll, the American professional mile runner, easily this afternoon at the Gaelic games at Apollo Gardens. The Irishman set so fast a pace for the first half that Carroll was carried off his feet and gave up at the end of the seventh lap, recling off the track in a faint. Theeler continued on and fin-labed the mile in a walk in 4:32 3:5. This was the Irishman's first race in America. He ran in good form and the time for the first half mile, 2:05, was very fast. Thousands of dollars changed hands over the race, as Carroll's friends had played their man for a sure winner.
